

The Ballad of Nimja Inc.

Welcome, trick-or-treater, come on in, sit down
You look as though you've wandered far away from home
Come rest your legs awhile here in our waiting room

Our chairs are soft and comfortable, so just sink back
Here, slip these headphones on, we've got a nice soundtrack
These cookies go down nicely if you'd like a snack

Here, take this mug, it has a hint of pumpkin spice
You'll find it slips right down and makes you feel so nice
Don't worry if you feel the need to close your eyes

Our CEO will be here soon to meet with you
... Oh, you don't recall you had an interview?
That's alright, understandable to get confused

You'll see it's all much simpler just to let your mind
Go blank and let the blissful emptiness expand
Making space for taking in these new commands

So easy, just like breathing, no more need to think
You're doing fine, that's right, and let your thoughts just sink
Welcome, new recruit, to life at Nimja Inc.
